

Key insights

Most popular stations are located near public transportation facilities.

Length and duration depicted a log-log linear relationship.

Separating trips by duration allows deeper analysis.

